About Allison:

Allison owns Foothills Canine Academy, based in Campobello, SC. As a professional dog trainer, she began scent work to build confidence and provide enrichment for anxious and fearful dogs. After attending her first competition in 2011, she became hooked on the sport. In 2018 she made scent work the sole focus of her business. She is a Certified Nose Work Instructor (CNWI) through NACSW and currently coaches around 50 teams weekly.

Allison has competed successfully at the highest levels of scent work with multiple untraditional dogs. Maisie, who competes at the Summit level in NACSW and Lucy, who competes at the Elite level, are no strangers to the top placements in these levels. Allison believes each team should be having fun and incorporates that belief into her instruction and handling of her own dogs. She continually pursues additional education from the experts. She is excited to help others uncover their dogs' superpowers!

Coaching Day:

Allison will help us answer these questions:

- * How do we assist our dog in finding a hide as opposed to preventing them from doing so?
- * How do we help our dog become more efficient and not hinder their progress?
- * How do we increase our dog's joy and avoid diminishing their enthusiasm?
- * How do we clear search areas efficiently without slowing down our dogs?

We will explore the skills that handlers can utilize, as well as the skills of our dogs, to enhance our success as we progress through the levels.
